

INDEX

	page
INTRODUCTION
ROMAN LAW AND LEGAL TRADITIONS	XIII
1. Is everyone against Roman law?	XIII
2. Roman law in legal history	XVII
3. General problems of law through the Roman law	XXII
4. Roman law can be the critical tool to reveal the ideologies of modern law	XXVI
 I.
UNIFICATION AND HARMONIZATION OF LAW
1. Unification vs. harmonization of law	1
2. The need for a common legal framework at the international level	2
3. Customary law and the role of jurists	3
4. The GADAL Project: linguistic and conceptual clarifications	6
5. Systematics of the GADAL Project and the ordering category of obligation	7
6. Legal rules and legal tradition	14
7. The GADAL Project: the way forward	15
 II.
THE PATH OF THE WEST. ROMAN FOUNDATION AND WESTERN LEGAL TRADITION
1. Augusto Teixeira de Freitas	17
2. The Roman legal system: Pierangelo Catalano	18
3. Latin American legal system: Hermann Eichler	20
4. Roman system and Latin America: the example of Brazil	22
5. The importance of Freitas' Esboço in Latin American law	26
6. Against Eurocentrism	28

III.

THE PATH OF THE EAST. ROMAN FOUNDATION AND EASTERN LEGAL TRADITION

1.	Roman foundation of today's legal languages	31
2.	The Eastern lung of the Roman system and the linguistic role of semantic calques	34
3.	The problem of identity in the legal system: a still-evolving dimension: persona (人), civis (公民), 'subject of law' (民事主体)	34
4.	Contractus and the complex stabilization of ' hetong ' (合同)	37
5.	The semantic field of trust, reliance, and good faith in the Eastern lungs	38
6.	Conclusions	41

IV.

JUSTICE AND LAW

1.	The 'justice' of the ancients and the 'justice' of the moderns	43
2.	A critique, through Roman law, of the modern utopia of 'pure law'	50
3.	' Officium ' and ' obligatio ' between the thinking of the ancients (Cicero and Seneca) and the thinking of the moderns (Kant)	55
4.	' Beneficium ', ' officium ' and ' obligatio ' in Paulus, book 29 ad edictum D. 13.6.17.3	59
5.	' Bona fides ', ' aequitas ' and ' iustitia ' in Triphoninus D. 16.3.31 pr.	66
6.	Concluding (or rather preliminary) considerations	71

V.

IUS CIVILE, XII TABLES AND INTERPRETATION OF THE PONTIFFS

1.	The problem	73
2.	Interpretation 'of' the ' lex ' and interpretation 'in' the ' ius '	76
3.	' Ius ', ' lex ', and ' interpretatio '	79

VI.

IUS GENTIUM AS SUPRANATIONAL LEGAL SYSTEM

1.	Customary law and consensual contracts	81
2.	Commercial practice in the Mediterranean region and its original relevance as ius gentium in the context of iurisdictio peregrina	83

page

- | | | |
|----|---|----|
| 3. | Cic. de off. 3.17.70: ' societas vitae ' in Quintus Mucius Scaevola | 87 |
| 4. | The principle of 'consent' and causal typicality in the ' interpretatio prudentium ' of the ' ius gentium ' | 89 |
| 5. | Conclusions | 89 |

VII.

IUS NATURALE AND LIBERTAS NATURALIS

- | | | |
|----|---|-----|
| 1. | The natural freedom of ' ferae bestiae ', ' volucres ' and ' pisces ' in Gaius | 91 |
| 2. | Natural freedom in Ulpian | 96 |
| 3. | Conclusions | 101 |

VIII.

REPUBLIC AND DEMOCRACY

- | | | |
|----|---|-----|
| 1. | Roman law as the foundation of Latin constitutionalism | 103 |
| 2. | Cato the Censor and the ' res publica saeculis et aetatibus constituta ' | 104 |
| 3. | Fundamental concepts of the political and legal form of Rome | 107 |

IX.

THE PROBLEM OF 'POWER'. IMPERIUM VERSUS 'SOVEREIGNTY'

- | | | |
|----|--|-----|
| 1. | The problem of 'power': Mommsen's conception | 119 |
| 2. | Towards a conceptual clarification of the Roman conception of 'power' | 121 |
| 3. | 'Nothing is so consistent with the law and order of nature as imperial power' (Cicero) | 126 |

X.

HOMO AND PERSONA. ROMAN ARCHETYPES OF THE LAW OF PERSONS

- | | | |
|----|--|-----|
| 1. | The problem of the law of persons in archaic Rome: the community perspective of ' mores ' | 129 |
| 2. | Priestly culture and the universal value of the notion of ' homo ', from conception (' qui in utero est ') | 133 |

- | | | |
|----|---|-----|
| 3. | The new paradigm of identity in the Hellenistic ‘ artes ’ and its spread in late Republican Rome | 138 |
| 4. | The construction of a ius personarum in Roman jurisprudence from Quintus Mucius to Gaius | 143 |
| 5. | Roman law as a tool for criticizing today’s conception of the person as a subject of law | 153 |

XI.

THE ‘RES’ AND THE LAW. THINGS AND REALITY IN THE ROMAN SYSTEM

- | | | |
|----|---|-----|
| 1. | The abstraction of moderns | 155 |
| 2. | The concrete conception of the Romans | 156 |
| 3. | Importance of the Roman meaning of ‘ res ’ | 165 |

XII.

‘POWERS’ OF THE FATHER AND DOMINION. HISTORY OF A DISCONTINUITY

- | | | |
|----|--|-----|
| 1. | Power(s) of the pater as a historical problem | 167 |
| 2. | My interpretative proposal: ‘ potestas manus mancipium ’ and their harmonization in ius civile through interpretatio pontificum | 174 |
| 3. | Enucleation by Roman jurists of the 2 nd century BC of the category of dominium | 182 |
| 4. | The problem of the ‘birth of private property’ in Roman law studies | 187 |
| 5. | A proposal in conclusion | 191 |

XIII.

OBLIGATIO OF THE ANCIENTS AND OBLIGATION OF THE MODERNS

- | | | |
|----|--|-----|
| 1. | Nunc transeamus ad obligationes | 193 |
| 2. | Pars obligationum | 194 |
| 3. | The obligation of moderns | 195 |
| 4. | The Roman construction of the obligation | 202 |
| 5. | For a critique of the modern model of obligation through Roman law | 205 |

XIV.

AGREEMENT AND RECIPROCITY IN CONTRACTS

- | | | |
|----|---|-----|
| 1. | Quintus Mucius Scaevola and the ' obligationes contractae ' | 207 |
| 2. | Labeo and the 'contract' as ' ultra citroque obligatio, quod Graeci 'synallagma' vocant ' | 211 |
| 3. | Ariston, the ' synallagma ' and the ' obligatio civilis ' | 213 |
| 4. | Sesto Pedio and the ' conventio ' as an essential element of the contract | 215 |
| 5. | The contract between agreement and reciprocity in Justinian's codification and in the Roman legal tradition | 217 |

XV.

'DAMAGES' TO THINGS AND 'INJURIES' TO THE PERSON

- | | | |
|----|---|-----|
| 1. | ' Damnum ' to things and ' iniuria ' to the person | 219 |
| 2. | Extension of Aquilian protection in natural law and the role of ' damnum ' | 220 |
| 3. | ' Damnum ' and Roman jurists | 221 |
| 4. | Conclusions | 225 |

XVI.

HEIR AND SUCCESSION

- | | | |
|----|---|-----|
| 1. | Models of succession in modern civil codes and ideologies | 227 |
| 2. | Heir and succession: towards a first legal vocabulary of succession models in Roman law | 228 |
| 3. | Models of succession ' mortis causa ' between ius and lex | 232 |
| 4. | Testamentary model | 235 |
| 5. | Legal tradition and the importance of concepts: heir and succession | 238 |